The installation is easy, but they say unplug the white wire and then plug the white lockpick wire in. The problem is, I don't have a white wire in the back of the radio. Only the grey one which I already hooked up with the mygig. Basically I'm suppose to unplug the original male grey and white wires, then plug them

The Lockpick unit is truly an intelligent camera system. It taps into the Jeeps CAN bus network and inserts itself between the Mygig unit and the rest of the CAN bus network. You run the power and ground leads from each camera into the Lockpick wire harness. That's how the unit is able to offer different display and activation options.

The Lockpick unit ends up between the factory wiring harness and the MyGiG unit. A 30 minute install and most of that time is spent getting the MyGiG unit out of the dash. Caveat: Be careful with the four screws holding the MyGiG unit in. If you drop them, they end up in the center console which is seemingly a black hole.

Lockpick - The lockpick box is pretty big and there are only a few places to install it in the dash in the radio area. I chose to put the box right above the radio. The lockpick box has to be positioned with the multi-pin connector towards the firewall and the USB and iPod cables towards the dash/radio front and on the right of the lockpick box.
